BUSINESS TROUBLES.

A Receiver for Amasa Lyon & Co., the Umbrella Manufacturers.

Amasa Lyon & Co., a corporation manufacturing umbrellas at 684 Broadway, have become insolvent and unable to meet maturing obligations, and Judge McAdam of the Superior Court has appointed Andrew J. Nutting of Brooklyn temporary receiver on the application of the trustees, who declare that the business has been unprofitable since the organization of the company, and that its prospects do not justify the hope of any profits. The liabilities are $76,630, nominal assets $142,000 in stock and accounts, which, forced upon the market now, the trustees think, would not realize more than $65,000, but if properly managed by a receiver would pay off all obligations and leave a small surplus. There are about 100 creditors, the largest being the following: Garfield National Bank, $14,000; Edward River National Bank, $10,000; Homestead Guaranty Co., $10,000; E. V. Wicks & Achille, $5,200; A. Fontaine, $10,400; E. J. Dodge & Co., $3,500; William H. Head, $2,500; Thomas Braslin, $2,000; Cheney Bros., $1,986; J. Briggs & Son, $1,522; A. N. Wilson, $1,500; Manuel Knauth, $1,396; Henry Howell & Co., London, $1,100; Collett Company, $1,000.

There are open accounts due from 3500 debtors throughout the United States. There are only eight stockholders. The company was incorporated on Dec. 28, 1886, with a capital stock of $200,000, according to the business which Mr. Lyon started ten years previously. Mr. Lyon was the president and Thomas Braslin the vice-president. Individual assignments early in less on account of the failure of W. H. Head. Mr. Lyon's liabilities were $1,000, actual assets $35,000. His wife, Mrs. Lydia Lyon, Edgar Newkirk, comprising the firm of H. D. Kerr & Co., produce commission merchants at 290 Broadway, have filed for protection yesterday without giving preference to Arthur L. Johnson. The three partners reside in Jersey City. The present firm on Jan. 1 last succeeded Leaman & Son, which was organized in 1889. The new firm claimed a working capital of $10,000. Mr. Newkirk has for several years been engaged in orange culture at Orange, N. J.

The schedules of William P. Dano, wholesale dealer in paper and cards at 61 Union Street, show assets $1,195; actual assets $1,124.

The schedules of Joseph H. Black, dealer in plumb & hardware at 33 West Street, show assets $34,450; nominal assets, $2,430; actual assets, $22,664.

The sheriff has taken charge of the factory of Hirsch & Martin, cap manufacuturers, at 109 Greene Street, on an execution for $2,400 in favor of Victor Louis, Jr. The firm comprising Charles Hirsch, son, and Oscar Martin, the latter was formerly in the wholesale egg business, and became a partner of his father in 1886. He says he put $5,000 in the business.

Attachments have been issued in this city against the Union Trust Co. in favor of Gossman & Co., rubber manufacturers.

India Rubber Glove Manufacturing Company: against Benjamin S. Willard, woolen manufacturer, 100 Clark Street, $1,000; and F. E. Emery, wholesale dealer in shoes, Boston, for $1,450 in favor of A. Sturges.

John Horner has been appointed receiver for Edward Eisenberger, jeweler, formerly at 69 Nassau Street, on an application of Oscar Martin, a street car operator.

More trouble is expected at the Raymond City mines, W. H. where a strike has been in progress for two weeks. An attempt was made two weeks ago to introduce negro miners in place of strikers, and will repeat the attempt in a few days. The strikers will not submit to this, and will receive the assistance of all the organized miners in the Kaweah Valley.
